Seating in tests will be pre-defined by T&P Cell, any violation will be considered as malpractice and the student is liable to be deregistered immediately and also will be referred to the concerned authorities for disciplinary action.

- A list of companies coming on/off/pool campus for recruitment is put up on the T&P Cell website. Students must NOT apply to any of these companies on/off/pool campus, as under an accord of mutual understanding between the firms and TIAS, companies would notify T&P Cell whenever they receive an on/off/pool campus application from any of TIAS students. In all such cases suitable action as per the institute rules would be initiated apart from the candidates being deregistered.
- Students are not allowed to share their personal contacts via any means with the companies coming on/off/pool campus. If asked to fill at any places, you should fill the contact details of T&P Cell, refer to the T&P notification site for details or contact T&P Cell in case of discrepancy before proceeding.
- Students are NOT allowed to appear in final selection process (test/GD/interview etc) of companies they have not applied to through the T&P Cell or have not been shortlisted in those companies. Students must refrain from contacting personnel of such companies when they are on/off/pool-campus. Violation of this will attract deregistration and suitable action. Only special cases allowed with prior approval of T&P Cell.

General Advice

- Students must carry their I-cards at all times during interviews & screening tests. No one would be allowed to enter the test/interview venue without the I-card.
 - The date/time/venue of the interviews will be subject to changes which, at times, may be at a short notice. Students must keep themselves well informed by visiting the T&P Cell internal website.
 - Be seated 10 minutes prior to the start of any activity to avoid delays.
 - Students must carry a complete file with a few copies of the resume, original certificates (if possible) and copies thereof while appearing for the interviews.
 - At the time of appearing for interviews, students MUST carry copies of the T&P resume only as was submitted to that company online & NO other resume.
 - Discrepancies in resumes are not appreciated by companies and may become a cause for rejection.
 - Please be aware that some companies may use the attendance of candidate for shortlisting purposes if they so wish.
 - All students are informed that any student aiding the blacklisted companies' off-campus or contacting them for internship or placement will be liable for strict action as per institute norms.
 - T&P is not liable for any visa related issues.
No mobile phones are allowed in the interview area. Kindly refrain from carrying one into interview venues.

Sentences are grammatical and free from spelling errors.	Report is organized and clearly written for the most part. In some areas the logic or flow of ideas is difficult to follow. Words are well chosen with some minor exceptions. Diagrams are consistent with the text. Sentences are mostly grammatical and only a few spelling errors are present but they do not hinder the reader.	Report lacks an overall organization. Reader has to make considerable effort to understand the underlying logic and flow of ideas. Diagrams are absent or inconsistent with the text. Grammatical and spelling errors make it difficult for the reader to interpret the text in places.

Students are inter-culturally competent.

Intercultural Knowledge and Competence is "a set of cognitive, affective, and behavioral skills and characteristics that support effective and appropriate interaction in a variety of cultural contexts." (Bennett, J. M. 2008. Transformative training: Designing programs for culture learning.)

Knowledge Cultural self-awareness	Articulates insights into own cultural rules and biases (e.g. seeking complexity; aware of how her/his experiences have shaped these rules, and how to recognize and respond to cultural biases, resulting in a shift in self-description.)	Recognizes new perspectives about own cultural rules and biases (e.g. not looking for sameness; comfortable with the complexities that new perspectives offer.)	Identifies own cultural rules and biases (e.g. with a strong preference for those rules shared with own cultural group and seeks the same in others.)	Shows minimal awareness of own cultural rules and biases (even those shared with own cultural group(s)) (e.g. uncomfortable with identifying possible cultural differences with others.)	Lacks complete awareness of own cultural rules or biases. ³
Knowledge Knowledge of cultural worldview frameworks	Demonstrates sophisticated understanding of the complexity of elements important to members of another culture in relation to its history, values, politics, communication styles, economy, or beliefs and practices.	Demonstrates adequate understanding of the complexity of elements important to members of another culture in relation to its history, values, politics, communication styles, economy, or beliefs and practices.	Demonstrates partial understanding of the complexity of elements important to members of another culture in relation to its history, values, politics, communication styles, economy, or beliefs and practices.	Demonstrates surface understanding of the complexity of elements important to members of another culture in relation to its history, values, politics, communication styles, economy, or beliefs and practices.	Elements of another culture are couched in negative or dismissive terms or student denies existence of cultural differences or experiences.

Skills Empathy	Interprets intercultural experience from the perspectives of own and multiple worldviews and demonstrates ability to act in a supportive manner that recognizes the feelings of another cultural group.	Recognizes intellectual and emotional dimensions of more than one worldview and sometimes uses more than one worldview in interactions.	Identifies components of other cultural perspectives but responds in all situations with own worldview.	Views the experience of others but does so through own cultural worldview.	Experiences of others are denied or couched in negative or dismissive terms.
Skills Verbal and nonverbal communication	Articulates complex understanding of cultural differences in verbal or nonverbal communication (e.g., demonstrates understanding of the degree to which people use physical contact while communicating in different culture) and is able to skillfully negotiate a shared understanding based on those differences.	Recognizes and participates in cultural differences in verbal and nonverbal communication and begins to negotiate a shared understanding based on those differences.	Identifies some cultural differences in verbal and nonverbal communication and is aware that misunderstandings can occur based on those differences but is still unable to negotiate a shared understanding.	Has a minimal level of understanding of cultural differences in verbal and nonverbal communication; is unable to negotiate a shared understanding.	Lacks understanding of verbal and nonverbal communication at even a minimal level.
2 Evaluators are encouraged to assign a zero to any work sample that does not meet Basic (Freshman Level) performance. Evaluators are encouraged to check the "No Evidence" if the rubric dimension is not evident in the work. For example, a student who openly states that he has no desire to learn about a particular culture would be rated below Basic (point-value 0) for the Attitude: Curiosity. By contrast, if the student makes no mention one way or another about a desire to learn about a culture, the "No Evidence" category would be selected. There is simply no evident of what the student's attitude was in regards to cultural curiosity. 3 Zero category based upon the Intercultural Competence Development Continuum: http://www.mdbgroup.com/intercultural-development.html (retrieved 5 20 14) which theorizes that people move through five stages in developing intercultural competence: Denial, Polarization, Minimization, Acceptance and Adaptation.
	Mastery (Senior Level) Point-value: 4	Proficient (Junior Level) Point-value: 3	Developing (Sophomore Level) Point-value: 2	Basic (Freshman Level) Point-value: 1	Skill is evident but performance falls below Freshman Level Point-value: 0	No Evidence : Assignment may not elicit skill or student failed to articulate.
Students are able to discuss civic responsibilities
Civic engagement is "working to make a difference in the civic life of our communities and developing the combination of knowledge, skills, values and motivation to make that difference. It means promoting the quality of life in a community, through both political and non-political processes." (Excerpted from Civic Responsibility and Higher Education, edited by Thomas Ehrlich, published by Oryx Press, 2000, Preface, page vi.) In addition, civic engagement encompasses actions wherein individuals participate in activities of personal and public concern that are both individually life enriching and socially beneficial to the community.

Diversity of Communities and Cultures	Demonstrates evidence of adjustment in own attitudes and beliefs because of working within and learning from diversity of communities and cultures. Promotes others' engagement with diversity.	Reflects on how own attitudes and beliefs are different from those of other cultures and communities. Examples of how intercultural competence is currently being assessed include through embedded course assessment, self-report instruments, reflection papers, critical incident analysis, interviews, observations (by professors, internship supervisors, host families, group members, etc.), simulations and longitudinal studies. While it is encouraging that more institutions are assessing intercultural competence outcomes, there is much work that needs to be done on improving intercultural competence assessment and as such, there are currently no examples of “best” practices.

Students engage in regional, national and global communities
 Global learning is a critical analysis of and an engagement with complex, interdependent global systems and legacies (such as natural, physical, social, cultural, economic, and political) and their implications for people’s lives and the earth’s sustainability. Through global learning, students should 1) become informed, open-minded, and responsible people who are attentive to diversity across the spectrum of differences, 2) seek to understand how their actions affect both local and global communities, and 3) address the world’s most pressing and enduring issues collaboratively and equitably.

Global Self-Awareness	Effectively addresses significant issues in the world based on articulating one’s identity in a global context.	Evaluates the global impact of one’s own and others’ specific local actions on the world.	Analyzes ways that human actions influence the world.	Identifies some connections between an individual’s personal decision-making and certain local and global issues.	Incorrectly makes connections between group or individual decisions and local or global issues.
Perspective Taking	Evaluates and applies diverse perspectives to complex systems relevant to the discipline systems in the face of multiple and even conflicting positions (i.e. cultural, disciplinary, and ethical.)	Synthesizes other perspectives (such as cultural, disciplinary, and ethical) when investigating systems relevant to the discipline.	Identifies and explains multiple perspectives (such as cultural, disciplinary, and ethical) when exploring systems relevant to the discipline.	Identifies multiple perspectives while maintaining a value preference for own positioning (such as cultural, disciplinary, and ethical) when exploring systems relevant to the discipline.	Disparages perspectives other than his/her own.
Personal and Social Responsibility	Analyzes ethical, social, economic and/or environmental challenges in global systems, evaluates the local and broader consequences of individual and collective interventions, and identifies actions which further advance alternative or expanded solutions.	Analyzes the ethical, social, economic and/or environmental consequences of global systems and identifies a range of responses informed by one’s sense of personal and civic responsibility.	Explains the ethical, social, economic and/or environmental consequences of local and national decisions on global systems.	Identifies basic components of some local or national decisions that have global impact.	Incorrectly to identify basic components of some local or national decision that has had a global impact.

Understanding Global Systems	Demonstrates deep knowledge of the historic and contemporary role and differential effects of human organizations and actions on global systems in developing informed, appropriate action plans to solve complex problems in the human and natural worlds.	Analyzes major elements of global systems, including their historic and contemporary interconnections and the differential effects of human organizations and actions, to pose elementary solutions to complex problems in the human and natural worlds.	Examines the historical and contemporary roles, interconnections, and differential effects of human organizations and actions on global systems within the human and the natural worlds.	Identifies the basic role of some global and local institutions, ideas, and processes in the human and natural worlds.	Inaccurately identifies basic roles of global and local institutions', ideas or processes in the human and natural worlds.
Applying Knowledge to Contemporary Global Contexts	Applies deep knowledge of global systems to identify sophisticated, appropriate and workable solutions to address complex problems using interdisciplinary perspectives.	Plans and evaluates more complex solutions to global challenges that are appropriate to their contexts using multiple disciplinary perspectives	Formulates practical yet elementary solutions to global challenges that use at least two disciplinary perspectives	Defines global challenges in basic ways, including a limited number of perspectives and solutions.	Inaccurately defines a global challenge in even limited ways.
