

Summing up: Provoke

In summing up it suffices to say that even Steve jobs hadn't achieved the purpose of his life or his Ikigai in his passing away. Per his desire he now lies buried in an unmarked grave.

The point to ponder is what is 'sufficient wealth'?

We shall let this serve as a prelude to the other three essays where we shall deconstruct and then reconstruct life and happiness including wealth too.

In the 4th episode you will split the cosmos into two equal halves from where you stand.

We sign off here by provoking, "How much do we need and what for?".

If this 'provokes' you to figure more; Next, let us invoke the 'What' and 'How' of happiness.