REPORT

Gender equality is when people of all genders have equal rights, responsibilities and opportunities. Everyone is affected by gender inequality - women, men, trans and gender diverse people, children and families. It is a debatable topic of whether human rights be gender neutral. Every individual has his/her own perspective and opinion on whether girls should have specific rights. To discuss this, Gender Champion Club of TIAS has organized a Group Discussion on the topic “Should human rights be gender neutral?” on 26th September 2022. The students were divided into groups of five and they were asked to present their views on gender equality and gender neutral rights.

Participants in a group presented their views that few decades ago, a very strong feminist movement began which threw light on the inequalities and discrimination that women suffer on a day-to-day basis. The amendments made in the law to promote gender equality were fairly legitimate for the times, but the dawn of the passing day has put men in such a position, that they are victimized by women empowering legislations. Thus, this decade has acknowledged the need of a GENDER-NEUTRAL society.

Another group of participants, focused on how men sometimes suffer in silence. Men are verbally, physically, emotionally and psychologically assaulted at times. Men do not report these abusive behaviors and thus suffer in silence as our laws favor women as victims of violence.

Participants also discussed the misuse of gender-specific statutory provisions in our country. Participants attempted to explore the extent of the problem and finally stated why it is extremely important to have gender-neutral legislation.

Participants on another group, considering women-specific rights highlighted the need of rights that favor females. They put forward their views on right to equal pay, right to dignity and decency, right against workplace harassment, right against domestic violence, Female sexual assault victims have the right to keep their identity anonymous, right to get free legal aid, right not to be arrested at night, right to register virtual complaints, right against being stalked etc.

The event witnessed 44 participants from different departments of TIAS. The students actively participated in the group discussion as they got an opportunity to exhibit their views on gender neutral rights.
