A GENDER WITH GREAT POTENTIAL

LEARNING OBJECTIVE

- To generate effective critical thinking among students towards women's contribution in decision making.
- To motivate students to develop self-independency.

REPORT

Gender Champion Club conducted a debate competition on 'Women are better in decision making.' The event was held on 18 November 2022 at TIAS PG Building. Women are frequently active change agents who inspire both sexes to take action, assert their rights, build stronger communities, and save the environment. Only 59% of the global gender gap in economic possibilities has been addressed, according to the World Economic Forum in 2016. It will take an additional 170 years to close it at the current rate of development. However, whether in corporate boardrooms or presidential cabinets, women still have a long way to go before they are equally represented in positions of leadership and influence. Each participant began by expressing what they thought about the role of women and their contribution to decision-making. Unsurprisingly, this resulted in a wide range of opposing viewpoints. Even some of the points prompted us to analyze the facts. There was a plenty of talent present in competition. The discussion of students' viewpoints on gender equality and the roles of men and women in decision-making during the competition were really engaging. Some students stated that house wives must be paid the highest salary irrespective of their qualification, they work 24X7 which is not underestimated by men. Some argued that male also participate in household chores equally with the women. The event was judged by Karishma, Assistant Professor, BBA.

There were 30 students from BBA, MBA, BAJMC & BCA participated in this event with great enthusiasm. The winner of this competition was the favouring group of topic, and the winners of the group were:

1. SARTHAK BAJAJ
2. AYUSHI AGGARWAL
