The Happiness club organized "Coats for Kids: Ensuring a Safe, Warm Winter for Children" initiative on 2nd Dec. 2023 at Bhalswa Dairy aimed to collect and distribute winter coats to children in low-income communities. The goal was to ensure that every child had access to warm clothing, protecting them from cold-related health issues such as hypothermia, colds, and frostbite during the harsh winter season. The event also sought to foster a sense of community responsibility and empathy. Community members were encouraged to donate gently-used or new winter coats for children. Collection boxes

A large-scale distribution event was held where donated coats were sorted and distributed to children in need. The event also included educational workshops on how to stay safe and healthy during winter. The program also highlighted sustainable practices through the donation of gently-used coats, encouraging participants to think more environmentally about how they can contribute to the community. The outreach activity, "Coats for Kids: Ensuring a Safe, Warm Winter for Children," was organized by the Happiness Club to provide winter coats to children in need, ensuring that they remain warm, safe, and healthy throughout the colder months. The initiative aimed to raise awareness about the challenges faced by children from low-income families during winter and to provide them with the necessary clothing to withstand the harsh weather. This event was also an opportunity to foster community spirit by encouraging residents to contribute to the well-being of the younger generation. The "Coats for Kids" initiative successfully provided essential winter clothing to children in need, contributing to their physical well-being while promoting empathy, community spirit, and social responsibility. The event not only met its immediate goal of distributing coats but also created lasting awareness about the importance of kindness, compassion, and giving back to the community. To further warm the hearts and bodies of the children and their families, a Warm Winter Treats Corner was organized where hot chocolate, cookies, and other warm snacks were served. This created a cozy, festive atmosphere, allowing families to relax and enjoy the event after receiving their winter clothing. |
