Report: Description in

1. Introduction: The technical quiz, held on 4th November at TIAS Classroom, aimed to test and enhance the knowledge of participants in various technical domains. Organized by Technical club, the quiz brought together participants from BCA academic backgrounds.

2. Format and Rules: The quiz comprised 3 rounds covering topics such as HTML, CSS, C language. Each round had 10 questions, featuring a mix of multiple-choice. Rules emphasized fair play, and participants were briefed on the scoring system.

3. Topics Covered: The quiz covered a broad spectrum of technical subjects. This ensured a comprehensive evaluation of participants' knowledge.

4. Question Design: Questions were crafted to challenge participants' understanding of fundamental concepts while also incorporating real-world applications. The design aimed for a balance between difficulty levels.

5. Quiz Execution: The event commenced with a warm welcome and an overview of the rules. Technical aspects, including audio-visual setups, were efficiently managed to ensure a smooth flow of the quiz.

6. Moderation and Scoring: Moderation, led by Ms Geeta and Ms Vandana, maintained a dynamic and engaging atmosphere. The scoring system, based on accuracy and speed, was transparently communicated to participants.

7. Rounds and Challenges: Each round tested different aspects of technical knowledge, presenting challenges that required participants to think critically.

8. Participant Engagement: Participants demonstrated high levels of engagement, actively participating in discussions and showcasing their technical prowess. Interactive elements, such as bonus questions, further heightened the energy in the room.

9. Winners and Prizes: Congratulations were extended to the winning team, who displayed exceptional technical acumen.

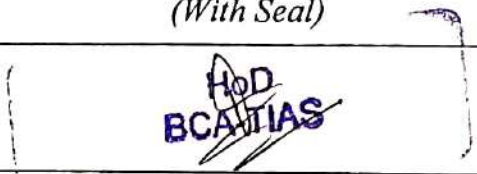

10. Feedback: Participants provided valuable feedback, commending the quiz's diversity of questions and the overall organization. Constructive feedback will be instrumental in refining future quiz activities.

11. Lessons Learned: The quiz highlighted the importance of early and thorough planning. Additionally, the need for a variety of question types to cater to diverse strengths among participants became evident.

12. Conclusion: The technical quiz proved to be a successful and enriching experience for both organizers and participants. It served its purpose in promoting technical knowledge and fostering a spirit of healthy competition.

13. Recommendations: Based on feedback and observations, future technical quizzes may benefit from incorporating more real-world scenarios and exploring collaborative elements.

This report serves as a comprehensive overview of the technical quiz, capturing its essence and providing insights for future endeavors.
