Students interaction with rural people

Students felt happy to interact with community members

The Gender Champion club organized a special activity on the occasion of Mother's Day, focusing on the art of letter writing. Mother's Day, celebrated on the second Sunday of May, is a special occasion dedicated to honoring and appreciating mothers for their unwavering love and sacrifice. The event aimed to revive the traditional practice of expressing heartfelt emotions through handwritten letters, fostering a deeper connection between students and their mothers.

The primary objective of this event was to encourage students to take a moment out of their busy schedules to reflect on the importance of their mothers and to communicate their feelings through the timeless art of letter writing. In today's digital age, handwritten letters hold a special charm and sincerity that often surpasses electronic communication.

Volunteers were present to assist students with any queries and to ensure the smooth running of the event. Students expressed thanks for the sacrifices their mothers made, their constant support, and the life lessons imparted. Some letters included apologies for past misunderstandings or conflicts, aiming to mend and strengthen the mother-child bond. Students shared their hopes for the future, expressing their desire to make their mothers proud and their intentions to take care of them in their later years. The letter-writing event on Mother's Day was a resounding success.
